

L and S Traporta S.A DE C.V. is a Mexican company established in 1982 in Leon, Guanajuato, Mexico. Where the biggest automotive cluster is located.

We started manufacturing all kinds of furniture for home and offices, it lead us to search all kinds of finishing for the steel that was the principal component of our products, that's how we started to develop the electroplating and electrostatic powder coatings.

The Nickel Electroplating is a process mostly for metals. In the beginning it was only for our own production, and later we used to give services to other clients. We still continue improving this system and giving this service to our clients.

The electrostatic powder coating gives us a colorful possibilities to finish our products with a good quality and a high performance resistance.

Our desire of continuous improvement motivated us to seek new equipment technologies and new processes that allowed us to comply and exceed the ever changing requirements of our customers.

Going with the idea to make everything shine and environment friendly, we introduced a high vacuum metallization system, this is one of the largest in all Latin America. It counts with an oven for thermo curing, best for glass and some other flexible pieces, and the equipment for UV curing, that gives the necessary extra hardness for some industries .

This system is ideal to give perfect bright and a reflective appearance on cosmetics, automotive, glass, containers, plastic bottles and much more different materials.

This technology began in 2008 giving us experience and knowledge of the market. Until now we have just focused on decoration, fashion (many important shoe companies), liquor companies like tequila manufacturers (finishing the bottles and caps) and some others.

In this time we are proud to have the best available technology, with the best people who are committed with their job. We actually count with 27 employees but we are always looking to give better opportunities to more families.

Our facilities are 1,000 square mts. and 3300 mts. available. So we have the possibility to grow just as we need.

We proudly start working this year on the certification ISO 9001 that give us the possibility to ensure close control of our processes and maintain a high level of quality.
